Do I need to Report or Disclaim AMS Organics information for my product(s)?

A disclaim declaration is appropriate if your products are not organically grown or produced, are not labeled as organic, and you do not intend to label or sell the product as organic OR if your goods are seafood, textiles, personal care products, OMRI listed products, dietary supplements or other goods not regulated by the AMS NOP that are organic but do not claim to be certified organic and are not labeled with the USDA organic seal.

Organic supply chains have become increasingly complex, leading to documented cases of organic fraud and gaps in oversight. USDA’s National Organic Program (NOP) is a federal regulatory program that develops and enforces consistent national standards for organically produced agricultural products sold in the United States. Under USDA’s Strengthening Organic Enforcement (SOE) Final Rule, importers of organic products must submit a NOP certificate to their broker with every shipment of organic products. Additional information about the NOP and SOE Final Rule can be found in the following links:
